ON THE COVER

"Pardon Us While We Also Change Our Dress"

Dear Wesleyanne:

Great was our shock and surprise to learn recently that, in publishing and distributing the WESLEYAN ALUMNAE to all alumnae whether they made a contribution to the Loyalty Fund or not, we in the past had occasionally been guilty of violating the permit under which the magazine has been mailed. The original second class permit, issued under the Act of 1879, requires that a subscription fee be collected for each magazine sent out. As we want all alumnae to continue to receive news of Wesleyan College and other alumnae, a study was made to see what should be done.

In checking alumnae magazines from other colleges, we found that those colleges using the same permit and stating a subscription price also make the following statement, "Contributors to the Alumnae Fund receive the magazine."

Rather than deny the magazine to some of you who are unable to make a contribution to the Alumnae Loyalty Fund, we have studied the possibility of consolidating the various publications of Wesleyan College under one second class mailing permit as done by many other colleges and universities. And since Wesleyan College already has a permit for the Bulletin, this would necessitate paying only a small fee of $10.00 for changing the frequency of publication. Therefore, it appears that the best proposal is as follows:

1. That we apply for permission to publish the Bulletin of Wesleyan College four more times each year.
2. That the Alumnae magazine be published four times a year as the Bulletin of Wesleyan College — Alumnae Issue. These alumnae issues would be the same size and style and look the same as The Wesleyan Alumnae does now except for the name.
3. The remaining issues of the Bulletin will be College publications, such as the Catalog and the student handbook.

Many alumnae may not realize the College has always borne the full expense of our magazine, and we are most grateful for this because we shudder to think what a little news the alumnae would receive if the alumnae had to pay the printing and mailing.

Watch for the next issue of your magazine entitled the Bulletin of Wesleyan College — Alumnae Issue.

Yours for Wesleyan,

Malene (Lee) Morgan

Alumnae Secretary.

The Porter Family Memorial Auditorium and Fine Arts Building is nearing completion on the Rivoli Campus.

"We're Moving Ahead at Wesleyan"

There have been many periods of magnificent achievement at Wesleyan College.

Unquestionably, of course, the greatest achievement was the actual founding of the college in the first place in 1836. Wesleyan College, the Macon community, and all women everywhere owe a great debt to those of vision and pioneering courage who established this original college for women.

But since those early days, there have been other times of important progress at Wesleyan too — like the building of Pierce Chapel in 1860; the enlargement of the Conservatory in 1882; the move to Rivoli campus in 1928; the financial re-establishment of the college in the mid-thirties; the payment of the moral obligation and the burning of the bonds in 1950.

To those who visit Wesleyan today, it is apparent that the college already has started into another era of great accomplishment. For even the casual visitor to the campus, there are evidences of progress in steel, in brick, and in concrete. Actually, though, these signs of physical progress are really only a small part of what has been done. Wesleyan has progressed in not only building plant and in material acquisitions, but also in service to the community, in curriculum, in faculty personnel, and in administration and leadership.

And, since every change made has been carefully planned to be in keeping both with Wesleyan's cherished traditions and Christian purpose, there is today a general enthusiastic feeling that "We're moving ahead at Wesleyan."

President Martin is shown here on the tractor he is using to improve the President's home property. He raises corn, oats, garden vegetables, wood products, flowers, horses, dogs, and pigeons — all this in addition to the almost unlimited hours he gives to his Presidential duties.

The Two Major Building Additions

As far as the physical aspect of the College's growth is concerned, the two major new acquisitions in recent months are the Porter Family Memorial Auditorium and Fine Arts Building and the President's home. The Auditorium and Fine Arts building is now nearing completion and will start serving the College early in 1956.

The auditorium level will have — in addition to the 1,168 seat air-conditioned auditorium—two art galleries to house the Myles Cowles Collier paintings and various dressing rooms and work shops off of the stage.

Beneath the auditorium, the $750,000 building will have studios, offices, and classrooms for the School of Fine Arts. For the first time in many, many years Wesleyan will be able to say that its deservedly famous fine arts program has facilities as excellent as any such school in the country.

The acquisition of the President's home took place about eighteen months ago, but it is news again because of the way in which the property has been improved. The $40,000 gift which added 65 acres to the College property has been appreciated, in every sense of the term, by President Martin. He has been, and is now giving, his own personal labor in revitalizing the property and its buildings.

A newly repainted end of the dining room is shown above. New shade screens are on the windows to the left. The 68 new tables and 500 new chairs were a gift last summer as were the new table linens now being used.

Above, Marilyn Memory, Becky Duncan, and Elaine Mathis sit down in the new chairs at one of the new "Formica" type tables. Below, Patricia Mock and Nancy Smith see the laundry's new $6,000 mangle in operation.

Both fields and woodlands have been made productive. Gardens and drives have been added, and the inside of the home has been beautifully redecorated. And, the removal of the President to the new home has enabled the College to house an additional twelve students in the dormitory.

The Greatest Summer of Improvement

During this past summer the college has completed some $80,000 worth of improvements in addition to the work on the auditorium project. It has been the largest amount of summer work undertaken at Wesleyan for a quarter of a century.

Water coolers have been installed in the main buildings, and badly needed screens have been put over the windows in the dining room. Five hundred new dining room chairs and sixty-eight tables have made a delightful improvement in the appearance and usefulness of that dining room, too. New linens have been added to cover the new tables in the Wesleyan tradition, although the tables are "Formica" topped and could be used with place mats.

One of the most important improvements, but one that very few people will see, is to the huge boilers in the heating plant. They are being converted from using coal as a fuel to gas. The saving in fuel costs which will result will pay for the conversion in less than four years, and future saving can go for other needs at the college. And Wesleyan and its neighbors will appreciate the cleaner atmosphere.

There are other big improvements that few people will see. A new $6,000 sheet ironing machine will greatly increase the efficiency of the laundry, and a brand new ice making machine has replaced the old ammonia plant. The addition of a new vegetable slicing machine has speeded salad making and simplified vegetable preparation in the kitchen.

Some Changes Within Buildings

Some extensive modifications of buildings and rooms have been made to provide for better teaching and recreational arrangements. Previously, the Student Center and Snack Bar were moved into Tate Hall; the vastly improved bookstore was added adjacent to it. Now, the Creamics Department has been moved across Forsyth Road to the "Pharm" building and there is enough room for all sorts of ceramic endeavors at wheels, kilns, and benches — plus a whole room for display of student work.

The Radio Department has been moved from the old Conservatory building and is now handsomely installed in new quarters in a room on the ground floor of the Porter Gymnasium building.

Badly Needed Maintenance Work

Some maintenance projects have been completed recently that have been needed for a very long time — some since 1928. Wesleyan is, of course, very proud that it paid off its bonded indebtedness. But the cost of honor is high, and such badly needed maintenance work had to be put off — and then put off again and again. There are rooms in Tate and Taylor Halls that have never been painted and only this year will they get their first taste of paint on the bare plaster walls.

In the past thirty months, most of the seriously needed repairs have been made. Items:

New roof has been put on the gymnasium; roofs on Tate and Taylor Halls and the dining room have been checked.

Dining room end walls have been replastered and painted.

Almost all of the dormitory rooms have been repainted.

Street lights have been installed on the campus.

Repainting has been done in the Student Lounge and the Faculty Parlor.

Tate Hall administrative offices have been repainted — including the Alumnae office.

Additional sewer lines have been installed.

And In The Near Future

As an adjunct to the tree-planting and campus beautification work, which was done last year through the generosity of the alumnae "campus beautiful" committee, headed by Elizabeth (Loyall) Woods, new parking lots and sidewalks are planned for construction this year at the Rivoli campus.

In the plans for the parking improvement, the present parking area north of the administration building will be paved, the main driveway will be widened to permit additional parking, and an area near the tennis courts will be graveled and set aside for this use.

A new four-foot sidewalk will be laid alongside the College driveway from Forsyth Road to the Loggia. Additional walks will be provided from the Mt. Vernon porch to the gymnasium, crossing in front of the new auditorium.

Service to the Community

Equally as important as the physical progress is the progress that Wesleyan has made in other areas, such as service to the community.

A college — any college — is more than its buildings, more than its added curriculum, more than its sports, more than its research efforts. A college is in a very real sense a community service.

At one of the new drinking fountains in Tate Hall, Janace Fender has a drink while Marguerite Player looks on. Nine refrigerated fountains have been installed.

It is the responsibility of every college to use its facilities to promote the interchange of ideas among various public spirited groups in the community. In the last twelve months, no less than eight conferences were held on the Wesleyan campus. Some of these were religious meetings, such as the School of Missions of the South Georgia Conference Woman's Society of Christian Service, the Georgia Synodical Training School, and the Georgia Pastor's School. Other meetings were of an academic nature — like the Georgia Conference on Family Life and the Southeastern regional meeting on American Studies. Wesleyan even contributed to the betterment of the economic life of the community when the Annual Georgia Insurance School met on the campus last summer. These conferences were in addition to such regularly scheduled College-community projects as the Girl Scout Camp in the cabin each summer, and the use of the swimming pool by the Red Cross for life saving classes.

Progress in Curriculum

Wesleyan is also moving ahead in the revision of the curriculum to better meet the student's needs and desires. Many of the courses which were offered two or three generations ago are no longer in the catalog — Orthography, for example, which was required of all students in 1875, has long since disappeared. But many new courses have been added. Most recently, the inter-departmental programs in American Studies and in Creative Homemaking and Family Living have taken their places in the curriculum. Additionally, the program in church music has been expanded.

A divisional type of organization has become a reality at Wesleyan so that the various departments can have a closer sharing of ideas on inter-disciplinary work. This is in keeping with recent trends in college education. The faculty has been devoting considerable time to studying the advisability of a "General Education" program.

These changes have been made and are being planned so that Wesleyan may "keep in step." But the faculty and its committees are being exceedingly careful to remain alert to the unchanging values in the traditional Liberal Arts and Fine Arts programs which have made Wesleyan famous.

Administration and Leadership

Another area in which great progress has been shown is in streamlining and bringing up-to-date the business methods of the college. Accounting procedures have been re-examined, and the business office has been strengthened. The resulting saving from better business management has made possible many of the other improvements and salary increases. Faculty members have had two general increases in the past two years.

A Student Placement service has been inaugurated. Now Wesleyan can present the same printed-form employment credentials and have the same employment opportunities as graduates of the other better universities and colleges in the Southeast.

The Public Relations office has been expanded and an effort is being made to send information to the home town newspapers of Wesleyan College students. A regular Wesleyan column has

Wesleyan Completes Student Elections

Special to Atlanta Journal-Constitution
MACON, Ga., Oct. 8 — Wesleyan College's major campus elections for the 1955-56 school year were completed this week as two offices in the College Government Assn. and the Athletic Assn. were filled.

Miss Martha Anne Neville, a junior from Register, is now co-secretary of CGA, and Miss Marie Girardeau, sophomore from Claxton, will serve as recording secretary of AA.

Miss Neville, currently president of the "W" Club, also is awards manager of the Athletic Assn. Other Wesleyan offices which she has held include secretary of the Athletic Assn., and treasurer of the Dance Club. A chemist major, she is the daughter of M. Neville.

A physical education major, she is the daughter of M. Neville.

high school to be shown on a regular movie circuit by a national motion picture company.

Well known as an author of Latin textbooks, Miss Horn is a past president of the Wesleyan national alumnae group, the Georgia Classical Assn., and the Georgia Modern Languages Assn.

Prior to her speech Friday, Miss Horn will be entertained with a morning coffee in the alumnae office at Wesleyan.

MISS MARION WADE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Wade of Macon, was this week's Social Standards choice for Girl of the Week.

Miss Wade, a senior major in education, is now been provided for us in the Sunday Atlanta Journal and Constitution, and a much greater coverage of Wesleyan news is being used by the Macon newspapers. Hopefully, some national publicity will be forthcoming in the not-too-distant future.

Recently, in commenting before a faculty group on the progress that has been made in the last two years, President Martin had this to say:

"I am firmly convinced that we are at the beginning of an era in which — if we are properly guided by our rich traditions — we can make unparalleled progress in our service to our students, to our alumnae, and to the community in which our College is located."

Annabel Horn Benefactors' Day Speaker

Annabel Horn, A.B. 1906, past national president of the Alumnae Association and past Alumnae Trustee of Wesleyan, was the Benefactors' Day speaker Friday, October 14. She was introduced by Jennie (Loyall) Anderson, '12, Wesleyan's first Alumnae Secretary.

This was practically "Annabel Horn Day." The former faculty members she worked with while Dean of the old Conservatory and assistant to Dr. Silas Johnson and Dr. Wm. F. Quillian welcomed her back to the campus during the morning coffee given by the Alumnae Association in the Alumnae Office. Displays of her most attractive and widely used Latin books were to be found in the Candler Library and the Alumnae Office.

During the Convocation program held in the Porter Gymnasium, Annabel Horn gave many of the students their first glimpse of Wesleyan's long list of benefactors. She brought them to life, so to speak, through humorous anecdote and her personal association with many of these outstanding people. She urged the students not to think of the tablets and markers on both campuses as we would of tablets in a cemetery, but rather as representing those who lived and loved Wesleyan College. She spoke of the many professorships, endowments, trusts and scholarships listed in the catalog, all given to Wesleyan because some one had loved Wesleyan College . . . a mother, a sister, a daughter, a wife, even a classmate. Miss Horn asked the students if they were being the kind of a classmate that someone would want to remember years from now in such a tangible way. She concluded by listing a few of the alumnae and teachers who in the past might well be termed benefactors of Wesleyan College.

Wesleyan Joins With Mercer For $500,000 Fund Campaign

Wesleyan College has joined with Mercer University in a joint campaign seeking to raise $500,000 in Macon and Bibb County this Fall. Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars of this fund is to come to Wesleyan for the purpose of paying for the completion and furnishing the Porter Family Memorial Auditorium and Fine Arts Building.

The Macon and Bibb County alumnae — over 800 strong—are being called upon to contribute time and means to this effort during October, November, and December. The drive is scheduled to be completed by December 15th.

The campaign calls for a total organization of over 400 men and women — many of them Wesleyan alumnae. The Master Gifts Committee and the Special Gifts Committee are already at work, and the teams have been organized for the general phase of the campaign.

The General Campaign chairman is Mr. William Fickling, well-known Macon realtor, who is the father of Virginia (Fickling) Monfort — she attended Wesleyan last year before being married — and father-in-law of Neva Jane (Langley) Fickling. The chairman of Wesleyan's Board of Trustees, Mr. Leo Huckabee, is co-chairman for Master Gifts in the campaign organization.

Frances (Cater) Snow is a member of the campaign Steering Committee and Anna (Weaver) Lee is chairman of the Women's Special Gifts Committee. Elizabeth (Loyall) Woods, and Elizabeth (Conner) Tucker are co-chairmen of the Women's Teams Organization committee.

Mr. Cameron Peden, Wesleyan's Business Manager, points out a detail of a new accounting machine to Miss Ella Buckner and Mrs. Ellen Taylor (seated). Wesleyan's improved business procedures have resulted in a great many savings.

The Golden Hearts of 1959

No sooner had we dried our tears over the departure of our Golden Hearts of 1955, than we opened our arms and welcomed the Golden Heart Freshmen — the class of 1959.

Celeste Parker They hail from Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina, New Jersey, Ohio, and California. Margaret Reitz of Gainesville, Fla., is the daughter of the president of University of Florida.

One of the Golden Hearts is having difficulty with her English . . . Anne-Lise Rossberg of Fredrikstad, Norway, whose way is being paid by the Wesleyan campus "Y". Baerbel Ursula Trapp of St. Augustine, Fla., has only lived in this country six years and speaks German fluently. She will become a naturalized citizen on December 16.

During orientation the entire class learned of Wesleyan's history and heritage from Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, immediate past president of the Wesleyan Alumnae Association.

Our pride and joy are the new students who have other Wesleyan families in their family. We list them below.

The New National Officers

Irene (Sewell) Hobby, A.B. 1922, newly elected national president succeeding Freda (Kaplan) Nadler, '26, just finished three years as secretary of the Alumnae Association. Irene has also just finished her term of office as president of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Fulton County Medical Society. She was honored last December by this Society when she was the only woman along with eight doctors to receive certificates of merit from the Society for "assistance given toward achievement of its concepts." Irene has contributed to Atlanta's enrichment through the P.T.A., Joseph Habersham Chapter D.A.R., Civitan Auxiliary, and other organizations. Irene has always been a loyal Wesleyanne. She served as president of the Y.W.C.A. at Wesleyan and has been active in church work every year since. She has been a moving spirit in the work of the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Club, having served on the Executive Board. She is a consecrated and tireless worker, personifying the ideals for which Wesleyan stands, and will prove an able leader for all those Wesleyannes "who have shared so much in common."

Irene (Sewell) Hobby

Cornelia (Adams) Heath, A.B. 1913, is the newly elected first vice-president of the Alumnae Association succeeding Jacqueline (Howard) Edwards. Cornelia is an active, loyal Wesleyanne, having worked with the Alumnae Clubs in Washington, D. C., and Columbia, S.C., when she and her late husband made their home there. She is now active with the Macon Alumnae Club, serving as co-chairman of Group I. One of her two daughters, Eva (Heath) Sullins, graduated from Wesleyan in 1947. Cornelia has for years been returning to Wesleyan for alumnae day and commencement programs and will, no doubt, bring new ideas, zest and interest to the duties of her office.

C. McPherson, president of Wesleyan College. In 1946 Scotty and her husband moved to Columbus, Ga., where they have made their home ever since. Here Scotty began to teach; continued to work on her Master of Science in Education, which she received from Alabama Polytechnic Institute in 1949; takes an active part in the A.A.U.W.; was elected Director of Third District West for the Department of Classroom Teachers in the G.E.A.; and all this time has worked tirelessly with the Columbus Wesleyan Alumnae Club. With all this activity Scotty still writes, "I promise you Wesleyan is my only love in life."

tion there. She received her Doctorate in Education from Columbia University in 1953; taught again at the University of Georgia one year before coming to Wesleyan in 1954 as associate professor of Education and Psychology. She now heads this department. In her work with Wesleyan students in various high schools in Georgia, Ernestine should be in position to help the alumnae accomplish more in their secondary schools program.

Ruth (Hall) Knox, A.B. 1940, newly elected treasurer of the Alumnae Association, succeeds Libba (Harman) Woodall, '48. Ruth will well represent the Alumnae Association just as she represented Wesleyan when a student at the Georgia Federation of Athletic Associations for College Women. She served both as secretary-treasurer and as president of this organization. Ruth was president of the Athletic Board her senior year; elected

Ernestine Bledsoe, A.B. 1933, is newly elected fourth vice-president of the Alumnae Association succeeding Floye (Powell) Dumas, '14. Ernestine became assistant to the pastor and director of religious education at Vineville Methodist Church immediately after graduation. She holds a Master of Education degree from the University of Georgia and in 1948 became Assistant Director of Counselor Training in the College of Educa-

Virginia "Scotty" (Scott) Estes, A.B. 1937, newly elected second vice-president of the Alumnae Association, succeeds Malene (Lee) Morgan, '32. Virginia, better known as Scotty, worked for four years after graduation as pastor's assistant and director of religious education at the Vineville Methodist Church. For three years she was secretary to Dr. N.

MACON CLUB — The Macon alumnae pictured above attended on October 1, the first group luncheon in the series of six luncheons on Rivioli campus planned for the Macon Club members by Frances (Cater) Snow, '26, president. This group consisted of the teachers and professional alumnae who were unable to attend their regular group meeting. Margaret (Otto) Lamb, '28, acted as chairman with Willie Mae Little, Sophie (Oxley) Clark, '41, Emily Orr, '30, and Betty Atwater, '49. Following each group luncheon a short business meeting was held in student lounge at which time Dr. Martin, president of Wesleyan College, introduced Dr. Richard H. Klemer, assistant to the president and head of the public relations office, who spoke on "We're moving ahead at Wesleyan." These group meetings took the place of the usual fall meeting of the entire Club.

to Phi Delta Phi honor society; and was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Immediately after graduation she taught in the Greensboro High School and the Robert E. Lee Institute in Thomaston. Following the war she and her husband settled in Thomson where he practices law. Ruth has answered every call Wesleyan has made on her and has proved herself a loyal daughter. Three of her sisters attended Wesleyan and she is rearing two potential future Wesleyan.

Margaret Richards, A.B. 1924, is the newly elected secretary succeeding Irene (Sewell) Hobby, '22. Margaret, one of Miss Garner's prize pupils in journalism, has continued to use her flare for writing not only as a most faithful alumna in the Atlanta Wesleyan Alumnae Club but in her work. She started right after graduation editing a small house organ. She was publicity director of the Y.W.C.A. in Atlanta for 12 years then in 1942 went with the government on the War Labor Board as an analyst. Margaret has been the Executive Secretary of the Fulton County Medical Society since 1948 and is managing-editor of The Bulletin for that Society. She has served as third vice-president in charge of publicity for the Atlanta Alumnae Club and has worked untiringly with her own Group IV. Margaret says "the Garnerism in her is always breaking out" and that she is happy when she can find the "peg" to hang a story on. She will indeed serve the Alumnae Association well as secretary.

Lucia (Chappell) Domingos of Macon, B.M. 1918, A.B. 1919, is the new Alumnae Trustee succeeding Annie (Gnatt) Ander-
